The following veto message was read from his Honor the Mayor, viz: MAYOR'S OFFICE, Sept. 18, 1862. To the General Council:

GENTLEMEN: In urging my objections to the resolution passed by your honorable body for constructing a sewer in Preston street, from Upper Green to Washington streets, I consider the simple fact of our grounds for my disapproval of a public im-provement so costly, though I shall refer to some others.

I agree fully with the report made by the Engineer, that the system of underground draining is the only remedy for our badly-graded streets, and would at a proper time heartily adopt the measure. I have ascerfrom him that this improvement would not cost less than from $12,000 to $15,000, as you will see by the enclosed report, which is barely a beginning of an improvement contemplated at some future period, which will have to be provided for by a special tax. Besides, it is very im portant that the whoie of the grades be Eastern District, reported a resolution from given throughout the city before locating the Board of Aldermen to have cleaned the feel persuaded had you had an estimate it would have very much changed your ac-

If it were necessary I could refer you to large sums spent in that locality, under the same kind of resolutions, in trying to drain the water in that vicinity up hill. Such has wonder at the long and loud complaints. You will also bear in mind that our resources will nothing like meet our demands for the present year, on account of the depreciation of our property and stag-

Correspondence Cincinnati Commercial COLUMBUS, Sept. 18. It has been an exciting day in Columbus. Our victories, won by the gallant McClellan, is the glad theme of thousands of jubl-lant people. As dispatch after dispatch came over the wires, the enthusiasm would rise higher and higher, until it culminated It was through sheer careissaness that the twenty-five rebel prisoners escaped from Camp Chase last night. The guard detailed yesterday was from the 113th, a new green egiment, just placed in camp. We are informed no definite instructions were given them. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon a party of prisoners posted themselves on a dry goods box with a pack of playing cards. The guard remonstrated with them, but were satisfied with the reply that they had frequently done the same thing, and that they violated no rule. Play was continued uutil guard mounting, when they effected their escape through an opening made in the fence by one of their number, who was concealed within the dry goods box. Oue of the rebels was retaken this morning.

Quite a crowd of them were seen disappearing through a cornfield by the guard, but they failed to fire upon them. The names of escaped rebels from Camp Chase are as follows:

James D. Smith, Harrodsburg, James D. Smith, Harrodsburg, Ay., L. C. Sanders, Lexington, Ky.; J. S. Reppert, Richmond, Ky.; Daniel Devos, Mead county, Ky.; Robert M. From the Richmond Whig, Sept_13.1
At length the opportunity for Maryland as arrived. Our armies have defeated and chased the invader from our soil. The barrier of the Potomac has been crossed, and the victorious banner of the Confederacy waves over the soil of Maryland. The time for patriotic songs and sentimental sympathy has passed, and the hour for ac-tion has arrived. If the feeling of the people be what it has been represented, they will rush to arms. If their experience of despotism has produced its proper effect upon a free people, and kindled the fire of resistance, instead of emasculating their spirit, they will hasten to seize the prize within their grasp. The pride, the selfespect, and the sympathies of Maryland link her with the cause of the South. Her interests point the same way. A spieudid vista of prosperity opens before her as a member of the Southern Republic. She must, however, remember, "who would be themselves must strike the blow. The prizes of life are not to be won with-

Hitherto she has escaped the ravages of war in whose success her own welfare is bound up. Now that it is transferred, at a critical moment, to her territory, she should be prepared to bear her part with fortifude Shenandoah Valley, with a Central Milibe prepared to bear her part with fortifude tary Depot at Winchester, which is strongly and cheertulness. A tithe of the sacrifice that Virgiuia has made will, in all probahave a decisive effect. We have every right to expect that her people wili not only be prepared to fight in the cause, but that they will cheerfully contribute ali in their power to the support of the army. Should they remain anathetic at this crisis, it may be regarded as a proof of indifference, it not hostility. Such a course would be almost incredible. Swiftthusinstic co-operation of the people. It is to be hoped that these joyful tidings may be confirmed. We have a night to expect as much, and, if true, they may be considered

A MIRACULOUS ESCAPE, -At the late bat tle of New Ulm, Mrs. Caruthers, who escaped from Beaver Creel, was at first taken prisoner, but two Indians became engaged in a quarrei as to who should have her for a squaw, and while the quarrel was pro gressing she made her escape with her two hildren. She was ont one day and two nights, and finally reached the Minnesota river, where she found a canoc and tried to paddle across, but not understanding the nodus operandi, was floated down the river some six miles and landed near the fort in safety, with one child in her arms and another on her back, and is now at St. I'e-

Mrs. Harringion was shot in the back at Leavenworth. The same ball shot a finger off her infant child. Mrs. 11. and child were out in the brush nine days, and subsisted on hazel nuts. She remained secreted from the Indians all this time, working her way towards white settlements as best she could. Her child, usually fretful, remained remarkably quiet, and whenever she would hear Indians, she would kneel down and pray to God to keep her infant quiet and deliver her from danger. Her rescue was made by one of our pickets, while crawling towards our lines. Our picket snapped two caps at her before he discovered she was a white woman. She first hailed the picket in the Sioux language, and he supposed her to be an In-Her escape was most miraculous throughout.

Orpheus C. Kerr thus writes of the plan of the Mackerel Brigade:

There you go again, my boy! always meddling with what you don't understand, and presuming, in your civilian imbecility, to doubt the practicability—not to say the utility—of a covert invincibility, reudering it a futility on the part of South-eru agility to lake for weak debility what many years.

his staff as a glorious victory though not a destroying the lives of our friends and fellow citizens, terrifying our wives and children, final one.

There was no faltering at any point of the line of the whole army. Our soldiers were exultant at the result of the previous days' fight, and McClellan was in the highest spirits. The opinion of McClellan and those around him was, that the final result would depend on who got reinforcements first.

Our soldiers were and children, and making our dear homes desolate. And, fie upon us! the confederate fig. now floats from the dome of our Capito, and we have made but one stand against the invaders, and that terminated in our most disastrous rout. Kentuckians, we must fight! It is now only left us to decide on who got reinforcements first. Our informant says that nothing had been heard on the field of the capture of Long-street or the killing of Hill, and that there is no truth in either report.

> Mounted Infantry. THIRTY-RIGHTH REGIMENT KENTUCKY VOL-

The Confederate army has again invaded Kentucky; and detached bands of guerrilias are roaming through the country plunder-ing, robbing, and even murdering private citizens. It therefore becomes our duty as men and patriots to rise as one man and drive the luvader back. Either they or we must sucoumb.

I am authorized to raise a battallion of mounted infantry for the Thirty-eighth Reg-lment Kentucky Volunteers, to be commanded by the brave and oft-tried Col, tha-briel Netter. The regiment is now in camp at Owensboro, and rapidly filling up. The men to be well mounted, armed, and equipped. Pay, bounty, and emoluments to bo equal to any other United States soldiers. This is decidedly the best arm of the service to drive the guerrillas from our State. Any further information can be obtained at my headquarters, on Main street, second door below First, or by applying by letter or in person, to Hon. Geo. H. Yeaman, Owensboro, Kentucky. HEVRY P. JNO. J. SPEED, Postmaster. To Arms!

My countrymen, your glorious old State is again invaded by Jeff. Davis' God-defying serfs. The cause of God, the glory of the nation, and the honor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, all call aloud for action. Come for h from the hills and valleys, and in the name of all you hold dear, for time and for eternity. Do not delay your time and for eternity. Do not delay your coming. Let no sloep come to your eyes, or rest to your limbs, until you rise in your might in defense of your wives, your chillage of the New York Store, as Salesman. Set din might in defense of your wives, your children, your homes. A moment's delay may cause a lifetime of bitter regrets, with chains and slavery. If there are any who wish to survive the destruction of this nation, the disgrace of the glorious old flag, and the humiliation of the world-renowned old Commonwealth of Kentucky, bring disgrace upon himself and posterily, let him turn and flee. Now is the time to show yourselves worthy descendants of noble, free, and independent sires. All are now PIANO-FORTE MANUFACTURERS needed, and honor will be showered upon those who respond in the time of danger. I am authorized to raise the Thirty-eighth Kentucky regiment of infantry, for three years' service. The time is none too long, if the enemies of our country are not sooner put down, and our services will terminate with the war. Any man who can raise thirty men can obtain a Second Lieutenant's commission. Let those who will come to the Officers' Dress and Fatigue Suits Cigars and Tobacco, rescue, call at my Headquarters, on the north side of Market, between Second and Third streets. I have established a camp at the Fair Grounds, in honor of our noble and patriotic Gov. Robinson, whose eloquent appeal now calls npon you to rise in defense of your homes and your firesides, and never disgrace the memory of your ancestors. The usual advance pay and bounty

Mr. Rutlinger, a man of military educa-tion and long experience in the tented field, will go as Lieutenant-Colonel. A. J. ALEXANDER, Colonel.

Still a Chance.

The Headquarters of the Green River Regiment, Thirty-third Kentucky, has been established at Munfordville, Hart county, immediately on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, where all recruits tendered will be put promptly into camp, and furnished with supplies. Our friends who feel it to be their duty to aid in putting down this be their duty to aid in putting down this rebellion (and who does not?) cannot do better than to join this regiment. Colonel Jamison, the commander, is one of the very best men in the Green river country, and will certainly get up a superior regiment. Companies or detachments who wish to join the regiment will report to the Adjutant, James A. Dawson, at Munfordville. Apply early and secure a good place. Only thirty days is given to recruits and a rush will be made to secure the post of honor. au27 dtf.

HEADQ'RS KENTUCKY VOLUNTEERS,) ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, LOUISVILLE, Sept. 3, 1862. GENERAL ORDER No. 34,

All volunteers for the State service, assembling under the recent proclamation of the Governor, will be at once mustered into service as part of the active militia of the

2. Company organizations will be a once effected, and elections of company officers held. The names of the officers elect, and the muster toll of the company, will be immediately returned to this office, in order that commissions may be issued without delay.

3. When more than six companies have assembled at a single rendezvous, a battal-ion may be at once organized, and its officers elected and reported for commissions and if a sufficient number of men shall be found at a single place of rendezvous to form three battalions, they may then go on to perfect a regimental organization.

4. The State Guard law having been substantially re-enacted, is hereby referred to for full information as to the details of the organization of companies, battalions, regiments, brigades and divisions. The law will be found printed at length in the appendix to Stanton's Revised Statutes, 2d Vol., pages 780 to 804. Particular attention is called to the provisions of the 7th Section of the law, which prescribes the manner of holding elections and mustering men into service.

5. All good and loyal citizens of the Commonwealth, within the military age, are urgently called upon to enroll themselves as members of the State Guard, so as lo be ready for service as soon as the arms and equipments can be provided; in the meantime, much instruction may be obtained by drill without arms.

6. Muster rolls and blanks will be furnished on application to this Department.
